Galitt Benelux: European development and customer closeness

Brussels (Belgium) and Boulogne-Billancourt (France), September 23, 2011

The Europeanization of payment systems is still looking for the right process while all the actors have now integrated this new dimension within their operational strategy. The European future, still undecided, takes shape thanks to technology convergences and European standardization leads.

Galitt takes an active part in payment system projects in France and in Europe. The teams have built up a high level of experience allowing the participation into more and more complex system processes, in various activities including banks, retail, petrol, transport and healthcare. For years, the international development has been considered by Galitt as a basic issue in supporting strategic focus and innovations by the client. With subsidiaries in Canada and United-States and a partnership network around the world, Galitt takes part in innovative projects which are beneficial to all its services.

At a time when payment systems are being Europeanized, Galitt widens its consulting activities and services in secure electronic transactions to the Benelux and creates a new subsidiary at the heart of the European payment area. Eric de Lafargue, Partner of Galitt Benelux, explains: "This new company, Galitt Benelux, based in Brussels will strengthen proximity with our clients in the Benelux and I am convinced that by bringing them our expertise of over 20 years in the sphere of electronic transactions, we will be able to support their major projects".
