Galitt trainings, a key success factor!

Boulogne-Billancourt (France), January 19th, 2012

In the world of card payment and electronic transactions, the drive to innovation is a day-to-day challenge in a regulatory and organizational framework. Our habits and way of life are consequently changing. Within the last few years, mobile and contactless solutions have been significantly emerging. In the mass transit market, these solutions have been quickly adopted whereas in payments, they are progressively and quite slowly expanding. The development and the diversity of projects addressing card and contactless applications but also payment and NFC services make crucial a global understanding of these complementing issues.

With additional skills resulting from the takeover of GFI Monetic and Aqualyse companies, its commitment in multiple innovative projects, Galitt growth allows a strong support to its customers' evolutions. A strong synergy between Galitt experts has allowed to building an extended training offer, bringing a detailed understanding of actors, technologies and systems.

"Galitt is playing a major role in the reengineering of payment factories, in the Europeanization of bank systems, and in the development of NFC payment and services on mobiles, in Europe and in the United States. This role is consistent with our policy of partnership with our customers, which requires a long lasting commitment built on quality and durability" declared Gerard TCHAKGARIAN, the President of Galitt. "We have developed new seminars which increase our offer and respond to a growing demand from our customers".

Galitt training offer includes three main topics: Basics (payment systems, EMV), new technologies (contactless, NFC & mobile, e-ticketing) and security (PCI, cryptography, fraud).
